Interest in the inspirational increases

DICK MARTIN brings the message each Sunday afternoon in a nursing home.

MUSIC IS one way of service for Richard Jensen.

Scripture verses set to music and quotable admonishments are remembered from the revival meetings with Dr. Homer Hammontree and Rev. Paul Beckwith. "More Christians tell lies behind song books than any other way" and "Don't try to live the Christian life until you have the Christian life to live" are two statements of wisdom gleaned from those meetings.

The daily chapel hour was an opportunity to hear speakers who are actively engaged in specialized Christian service. And then there were all-music chapels. Campus gospel teams added their music, and Prof. Ogden led in the singing of some unfamiliar, but inspiring hymns.

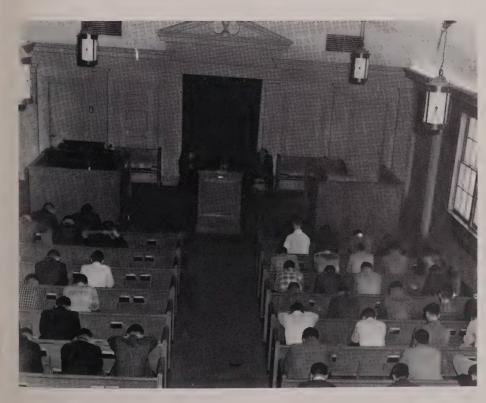

The Days of Prayer held annually since 1937 have been times of heart-searching and blessing for the student body.

A rearrangement of the class schedules shortened the chapel hour to thirty-five minutes, allowing the next half hour to be used for W.M.F. prayer meetings, class meetings, or for free time, as each student desired. An organ prelude and postlude created a worshipful atmosphere for the chapel services.

THE INDIANA-TENNESSEE-Michigan Trio was formed by Prof. Don Ogden, Dr. Homer Hammontree and Rev. Paul Beckwith.

sion of the Alumni Bible Conference. Dr. Frank is head of the music department of Fort Wayne Bible Conference.

Fifty alumni attend conference

The Alumni Conference lectures and messages stimulated individual retrospection and evaluation.

With dynamic directness, Dr. Torrey Johnson, founder of Youth for Christ, emphasized to the fifty alumni and the students complete dedication to Jesus Christ.

Dr. Frank Gaebelein, headmaster of the Stony Brook Boys' School in New York, brought the L. S. Bauman Memorial lectures. After speaking on the Christian Philosophy of Education, he sounded the final note of the Bible Conference in his presentation of a piano concert.

During the Journalism Conference, Ken Anderson humorously advised amateur writers to avoid using the "David and Mary" plot.

A sixty-voice choir of college and seminary students, students' wives and town's people practiced every Wednesday evening to perfect the "Messiah." Serena Myers, contralto, and Virginia Kennedy, sporano, sang the recititives.

Accompanied by Prof. Alva Steffler, organist, and Sharon Auxt, pianist, the oratorio society presented this monumental work at the Winona Lake Brethren Church, December 10, and to the college student body, December 15.

This group practiced two hours every Wednesday evening to present this concert.

The seventeen-day choir tour required hours of individual practice and memorization as a group under the leadership of "Prof." Ogden.

Between performances, the choir members rehearsed their program daily, had some leisure time for bowling, swimming, skating, eating, and some even found time to study.

Choir officers this year are Garry Butt, president; Dave Miller, vice-president; Marcia Hulliberger, treasurer; Sandy Cale, secretary, and Dennis Beach, chaplain.

Defeat for the juniors in the baseball game, worse defeat for the sophomores in the Beanie Bowl were the sports results at the fall retreat at Lake Wawasee. In the faculty-married men's baseball game Dave Gilbert, umpire, kept the home plated dusted by frequently appling a frosh beanie to it. However, despite Dean Kreigbaum's efforts, the faculty won.

Dr. Kenneth Kantzer, Wheaton's chairman of philosophy and Bible, advocated being "sold out to God."

Bales of hay, fellows and gals dressed in colorful western style set the mood for Sadie's Roundup held in the gym, January 19. The W.R.A.-planned evening featured the Walt Disney film "So Dear to My Heart."

To follow the theme, the girls made original western-style neckerchiefs for their fellows.

In the Sadie Hawkins tradition, Grace gals made fumbling but well-meaning efforts to open doors, hold coats and carry books.

A freshman trio-Linda Moore, Carol Toirac, and Miriam Ashman-dressed barefoot and hobo style, entertained the amused audience.

Throughout the year several well-attended corecreational parties were sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association.

Membership in the newly-formed Monogram Club of W.R.A. requires at least sixty points gained through sports participation. This group made 200 arrows for the school's athletic department.

WRA MEMBERS who are also eligible to belong to the newly-formed Monogram club are seated: Carol Richeson, Loreen Summers, Louise Hancock, secretary-treasurer; Virginia Riley, and standing: Carole McCollum, Yvonne Messner, adviser; and Susan Weigle, president.

Membership requirements in the WRRRRAA are that one must be athletic, be of sound mind and body, and be a bachelor. Co-ordination is not a prerequisite.

The Gentlemen's Association for married men exists only for opposition, being upheld, maintained, propelled, and run by the seminary bachelors.

September 30, 1961

Mr. Knute Larson, President
Student Council
Grace Theological Seminary
Winona Lake, Indiana

Dear Mr. Larson:

I have your letter asking my advice on how young people can best accomplish their desires and ambitions for success.

At an early date in life a young man should make up his mind on the profession or avocation he intends to follow, and then bend every energy to that point. I made up my mind early in life that I wanted to go into public life and the second time I ever voted, when I was 24 years of age, I was running for a seat in the Texas Legislature. In my third term there, when I was 29 years of age, I was elected Speaker of the House. In 1912 I was elected to Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of Texas, and have been a member ever since, having served longer in the House than any other man in the history of the United States. I am now in my 48th year as a member of the United States House of Representatives.

I wanted to be Speaker of the House, so on September 16, 1940, after the death of Speaker Bankhead, I was elected. I have been Speaker ever since, except when the Republicans controlled the 80th Congress, from 1947 until 1949, and the 83rd Congress, from 1953 to 1955. In September of this year I completed 17 years as Speaker, and on June 12, 1961, I had served as Speaker twice as long an any other man in history. Henry Clay served 8 1/3 years as Speaker of the House.

Every American boy and girl should study United States history and government. I say this because I know the more you know about the United States history and government the more loyal you will be to it, because there is no other government in the world where people have the freedoms that they have in the United States of America.

Energy must go along with ability. There is not so much difference in the native ability of people because most of them have good common sense. It is what they do with it. Therefore, remember this, that the fellow at the next desk, the next office, the next profession or the next business, has as much ability as you have, and he is going to beat you to the goal if he works harder than you do. Ability without energy and purpose amounts to little.

I trust that this will give you some light on my philosophy.

With every good wish to you, I am

Sincerely yours,

Mayburn

he news of Grace

The school publications, the Sounding Board, its paper, and The Grace, its yearbook, require desire and ingenuity.

Aside from learning techniques of reporting, layout, and business management, the staffs grow to know and to appreciate each other.

There were those Tuesday evenings every other week when the Sounding Board went to press. Two o'clock in the morning finally saw the paper completed and the staff's energy depleted.

There were those philosophical debates interspersed with work.

Repeated instructions were necessary because of the background "mood" music.

Egotistical idyosyncracies of the staff resulted in humorous injections of cut line ideas into the conversation.

Publications advisor, Miss Norris, surprised the staff frequently with chocolate chip cookies or banana nut bread.

Then there was the time the darkroom flooded with water, overflowing into the chemistry room, and dripping to the stage below.

Yes, progress was made in spite of these things.

KNUTE LARSON, who for three years has been a class president and a dormitory officer, is student body president this year. A speech major, he has been active in dramatic and speech activities of the school and was editor of the Sounding Board in his junior year. For two years he was a varsity basketball team member.

MARCIA HULLIBERGER has excelled in music. She is a member of the traveling choir and a member of the girls' quartet that travels to churches on many weekends. This summer the quartet will represent the college in the Eastern states. Her scholastic abilities are also quite notable.

sted in Who's Who

LOWELL BENNETT has been outstanding in the college intramural athletic program and this year helped direct the program. He has also participated in Christian service and speech activities.

As a member of the '62 class, he has led the class as president, and was this year the first president of SEA on campus.

DOROTHY ENGELBERTH, a graduate of North Webster High School, has been especially active in the music department of the college. Besides being a member of the traveling choir each year, she sings with a girls' quartet that has traveled extensively.

She also received recognition for her scholastic achievement. In three years of winter instruction and summer school, she completed four years of study.

Scholarship is demandel

ROGER SHAULL is student body chaplain this year. He has done outstanding work in dramatics including the part of Lincoln in "Love Is Eternal" and Papa in "I Remember Mama," and this spring has been chosen to head the cast in the 1962 production, "Smilin' Through."

EILEEN AVERY has been active in publications as chief typist for the Grace Sounding Board and the Grace Journal. She has been a member of the make-up crew for several college plays. Twice Eileen was a Homecoming queen attendant. She is also a dormitory officer.

of these seniors

GENE LAMBRIGHT, a graduate of Goshen High School, has been especially active in the College World Missions Fellowship. He is also a member of the 1962 yearbook staff.

Appearing in college dramatic productions, helping in his class as an officer, and participating in dormitory leadership are some of his qualifications.

MARJORIE TURNER is president of the Women's Dormitory and is secretary of the College Student Council. She was secretary of her class and president of the Women's Glee Club during her junior year. Marjorie served two years as a Christian service group teacher and as a member of the mixed chorus.

fine Homecoming

Thanksgiving weekend kept students busy with college homecoming activities.

Members of each college class constructed unique displays which were placed on the Westminster Hotel, the college building, the seminary building, and the gym. These displays were made of facial tissues, napkins, crepe paper and tin.

The winning efforts of the freshman class were a huge frosh beanie and a graduation cap on the seminary lawn along with dummies of basketball players.

Sophomores chose to mount a replica of the Grace seal on the college building, while the seniors turned the gym into a Christmas gift. "Rocketing to Victory" was the juniors' theme at the hotel.

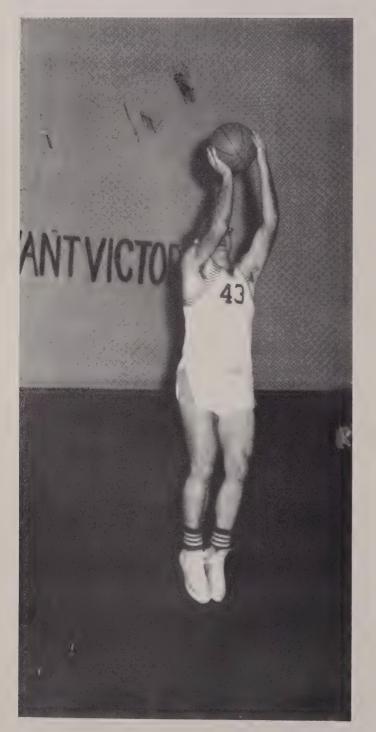

A G-Men sponsored pep rally, around the leaping flames of a bonfire, was followed by a student march throughout town behind a Winona firetruck.

Saturday night at the basketball game, Charles Henry, new college alumni president, presented Queen Jeanine with a spray of red roses and a plaque. Jeanine was crowned by the 1961 Homecoming Queen, Jane Lynn Lelle.

New college alumni officers are Charles Henry, president; Terry Kirkpatrick, vice-president; Elener Norris, secretary, and Eddie Blue, treasurer. THE FEARLESS KNIGHT, Lancy, sweeps his domain, then leads the Lancer Prance through Winona Lake.

Dr. McClain retires after twenty-fire

ars as president

DR. ALVA J. McCLAIN, figuring prominently in the founding of Grace Theological Seminary, has been its president during the twenty-five years of existence. This dignified and snowy-haired man of keen theological insight also has served as president of Grace College since its genesis.

its genesis.

Throughout these twenty-five years, Dr. McClain has been encouraged by his wife, who served without remuneration for fourteen years as financial secretary of the chool.

He charges Grace students with the words of Paul in II Timothy.

And the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also. Take they part in suffering hardship, as a good solidier of Christ Jesus. No soldier on service entangleth himself in the affairs of this life; that he may please him who enrolled him as a soldier. And if also a man contend in the games, he is not crowned, except he have contended lawfully. The husbandman that laboreth must be the first to partake of the fruits. Consider what I say; for the Lord shall give thee understanding in all things. Remember Jesus Christ, risen from the dead, of the seed of David, according to my gospel . . . Faithful is the saying: For if we died with Him, we shall also live with Him: If we endure, we shall also reign with Him: If we shall deny Him, He also will deny us: If we are faithless, He abideth faithful; for He cannot deny Himself . . . Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth. II Timothy 2:1-8, 11-13, 15 (ASV)

Be strengthened in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

Administrative changes,

Addition of dean

Mark 1961-62

By holding theology class four—instead of the usual three—days a week while he was here, Dr. McClain had time to rest and write in Florida for two and a half months.

Dr. Hoyt crowded conferences from Canada to Georgia to California into his busy schedule as dean and teacher.

Other administrative committee member, Dr. Kent, Sr., "held the fort" while Dr. Ogden covered 5050 miles on a two-month trip to churches in eight states.

While he was visiting churches, Miss Schnittjer's girls surprised her with cake, ice cream, a white wool dress, and jewelry for her birthday.

Dean Kriegbaum became acquainted with the fellows at the stag get-togethers held at his home in the early part of the school year.

Middlers preach "trial" sermons, honor seniors

ALVA GOOSEN, chaplain; Edgar Lovelady, vice-president; Alan Beal, secretary; James Renick, president, listen as John Schumacher, treasurer, adds his opinion to the discussion. Donald Fitchett, social chairman, is not present at the meeting.

The seminary class of 1963 exceeded their goal for the James Gribble Memorial High School Fund by $52, contributing $200. This additional amount was given to the delinquent college classes.

These scholarly seminary fellows contributed heavily in manpower and injuries to the Wooster Road Running, Racquet and Rugby Athletic Association. Dr. Whitcomb, the class advisor, suffered with a black toenail for several months. The class president, Jim Renick, was confined to bed after an encounter with Dan "Steel-toe" Eshleman.

In spite of middler sermons, they found time for several social activities. Don Fitchett planned the class party held at the home of Dr. Whitcomb. The scene of the spring class party, April 7, was the apartment of Jim Lynn and Ken Holmes.

Bill Schaffer and Paul Schumacher provided the special music at the Middler-Senior banquet held in the Winona Lake Auditorium, May 11. Rev. Mark Malles, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Fort Wayne, spoke on "The Triumph of the Man of God," taking his text from Philemon. Don Fitchett was the master of ceremonies for the banquet which was catered by the Eskimo Inn.

Juniors meet Hebrew, collateral

SEMINARY JUNIOR social chairman Ralph Hayes jokingly reminds secretary James Kennedy, chaplain Ross Epperley, president Raymond Entenman and treasurer John McNeil that they are waiting for vice-president Larry Poland.

Hebrew, mid-term exams, collateral and more collateral placed a formidable, but challenging, task before the seminary juniors. Suspense gripped these scholars as they sat in Dr. Kent, Jr.'s class on Acts trying to figure out his pattern for recitation. After an hour of repeating the contents of each chapter, the class sighed in relief.

In church denominational history class, studdents expected the usual true and false test after the completion of every one hundred pages.

In preparation for future, but impending, middler sermons, messages were taped in the Homiletics class.

After the mid-term exams were completed, the juniors celebrated. In the party, one game's object was to use alliterated sentences in typical Dr. Hoyt style. Also tales of embarrassing moments kept the group in an uproar.

Although there had been no official seat assignments made, the junior class of one accord seated themselves in the left front section of chapel. However, there were a few who preferred further segregation. These sat in the "Bob Jones Row," the first row of the chapel.

Juniors meet Gribble goal first, fete senio

GARRY BUTT, CHAPLAIN; Barbara Hindman, co-social chairman; Jerry Lelle, president; Jeanine Swetlic, student council representative; Joyce Baker, treasurer; Noel Hoke, vice-president; Carolyn Bauman, secretary, and David Miller, co-social chairman, have optimistic thoughts about their banquet.

A scavenger hunt, during the first weeks of the school term, required the juniors to obtain a lock of Prof. Henry's hair, to ask Ruth Rodeheaver Thomas for a flower, to hear Prof. Ogden sing, to learn six Hebrew words from Dr. Bess.

Dave Gilbert and Jerry Lelle presented a hard-wood sign lettered in Old English characters to Dr. Ogden. Now hanging over the entrance of the seminary auditorium, it reads: "Give unto the Lord the glory due unto His Name; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness."

Although three of the original class entered nurses' training last fall, six of the ten transfer students joining the ranks of the class of 1963 were nurses.

Juniors Charlotte Henning, Ross Carey, Roland Fletcher, Bob Halliwell, and Dan Hankins took the honors as the neatest housekeepers during open house.

The class met its $212 goal, paying for fifty-three square feet of the James Gribble Memorial High School.

Sophomores played host to frosh, ball fais

DAN PACHECO, VICE-PRESIDENT, quite seriously describes the initiated freshmen's attire of Snyder ties and dyed hose while Bob Moeller, chaplain; Tim Farner, president; Sharon Auxt, secretary; Eloy Pacheco, cosocial chairman; Linda Kidder, student council representative; Ruth Henry, co-social chairman, and Larry Mohler, vice-president, find their laughter hard to suppress.

Sophomores played the part of the gracious host to the green frosh by welcoming them the first week with a picnic and a coke party.

They were still gracious in a strained sort of way when the freshman showed their appreciation by trouncing the sophomores, 20-13, in the classic beanie battle.

As a means of consolation the sophs had a class havride, November 4.

However, the class of 1964 did contribute much to the atmosphere of the Lancer field house. They mounted on the gym wall the eight-foot replica of the Grace seal, which was displayed on the college building during homecoming week.

A ballgame seemed incomplete without patroning the concession stand where the sophomores sold popcorn, pop and apples.

Terry Auker—the fearless knight, alias Lancy—first appeared at the homecoming pep rally on a fire-shy horse. After his debut, he continued to encourage and lead the cheering at the home games.

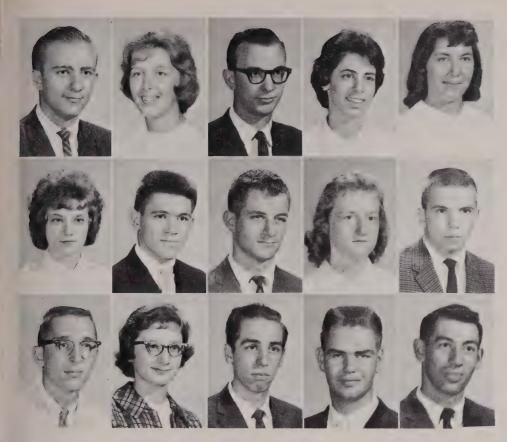

Furnishings for the main lounge of the new dormitory are being paid for by a fund in memory of Melvin Baker who would have been a sophomore this year.

Winning homecoming display of green beani

IN THE HOME of Dean Kriegbaum, their class advisor, Barbara Reed, treasurer; Evelyn Lehman, student council representative; Larry Richeson, chaplain, and Sandy Simpson, social chairman, enjoy some relaxation after their banquet planning as Roger Peugh, president, tells a new joke to Miriam Ashman, secretary, and Rick Auxt, vice-president.

The class of 1965 struggled heroically through the "Hour of Nemisis," finally reversing the order of the hour by initiating the superior sophomores with the contents of eggs. Highlights of the initiation day were the mummyfying of Bill Davis in wallpaper for an hour, the outwitting of a greased pig and the ignominious defeat of the fellows in tug-of-war against the girls.

The freshman girls' cheering section threw their beanies into the air as victory over the sophomores became evident at the fall retreat.

Hay fever struck fifty-two frosh on Saturday night, November 11. But they recovered sufficiently to play winkum in Prof. Woolman's barn, to eat sloppy joes and to hear the devotions by Larry Richeson.

Just as the upperclassmen were being convinced that the freshman knew their places, the frosh homecoming display of beanies and graduation caps was voted as the first place winner by the college alumni.

Herb Hoover was the singer, pianist, and speaker of the freshman-sophomore banquet at Concordia College, Saturday, March 24. This perennial frosh privilege has two objectives—to thank the sophomores for their hearty welcome and to keep the "one-time green beanie wearers" humble.

A small beginning . . . "But a perpetuation of the faith and ideals Of its founders." Realizing . . . "That for every step in knowledge, There should be a corresponding advance In spiritual matters." Admitting . . . There are challenges In tradition. Expecting . . . That further advances Will be attained. Endeavoring . . . To meet today's need After a quarter century. "Progress Is not made by taking pride In our present standards, But by critically examining these standards, Hypothetically setting higher standards, And attempting to achieve them."
